FIRE CAUSES $40,000 LOSS — Firemen are investigating the cause of a fire which destroyed the large 50 x 60 foot barn of Frank T. McGuire on Route 62, a mile east of Alliance, at 12:23 p. m. Wednesday.

Loss has been estimated by McGuire at $40,000.

Fire trucks from Sebring and Alliance were used in the three-hour fight with the blaze.

Lost in the fire were 1,200 bales of hay, 2,000 bales of straw, 500 bushels of oats, a mowing machine, and 12 bowling alleys being stored there by Paul Sharp of Norma, Ill.

Built originally in 1931 as a stock barn, McGuire said the building would cost $35,000 to replace.

Hospital Reports Ike Had 'Very Good Night'

DENVER (AP)—A bedside bulletin reported today that President Eisenhower had "a very good night last night.

A 7 a. m. (MST) report from two of the chief executive's physicians said that:

"The President had a very good night. He slept almost continously under the oxygen tent from 9 p. m. to 6:15 a. m."

This was from Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the President's personal doctor, and Col. Byron E. Pollock, chief heart specialist at Fitzsimons Army Hospital, where Eisenhower has been confined since his heart attack last Saturday.

The doctor have been saying that rest and sleep are essential to repairing the chief executive's damaged heart and putting him on the road to recovery.

An Encouraging Sign

Thus the some nine hours of sleep Wednesday night appeared to be an encouraging sign.

On the basis of a procession of similar bulletins over the past few days, an atmosphere of increaing but still restrained optimism has developed here about the chief executive' heart condition.

James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary, said that Eisenhower has suffered no pain since Tuesday, that he no longer is running a temperature, that his morale is high, appearance good and there is no feeling of depression.

For 13 hours ednesday there was no need of an oxygen tent for the chief executive. At times during the day he listened to soft recorded music.

Relapse is Possible

None of the outstanding heart specialists here or on call across the country is discounting the possibility of a relape or even another attack. None will say, at this point, that the President is out of danger, "over the hump," or even that he is improving definitely and steadily.

But for five consecutive days, they say, Eisenhower has been reacting normally and "without complications" to a type of heart attack from which the large majority of victims eventually recover.

The words "without complications" are the key, significant phrase. The absence of complications is encouraging to Eisenhower's physician.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart expert who was flown in Sunday to examine the President, says that complications can come any time in the first two weeks after a heart seizure. That is the period in which an afflicted heart is discarding damaged muscle tissue and forming a scar.

Eisenhower still has nine days to go on that critical two week' period. His "moderate" coronary thrombosis—a blood clot in a heart

Wellsville Man Chosen Delegate To Washington

Hike In Enrollments, Lack Of 'Participation' By Parents Cited

LISBON — State Rep. Robert Longsworth of Carrollton told more than 100 community delegates on Wednesday at the Columbiana County "White House Conference on Education" meeting at Lincoln School here that the two big problems facing America today are increased enrollments and the fact that "not enough parents are participating in education."

"Education is your problem," Longsworth said. "A continuing interest in the citizens" must be maintained if schools are to function properly, he said.

The state representative said "We are becoming more and more conscious of education in our everyday lives," adding that the American people are "being awakened to education on a national scale He cited President Eisenhower's recent statement on the need for additional education to cope with the increasing problems of the times.

Education Top Issue

Rep. Longsworth said an Ohio congressman told him "education will become a top issue in the next session of Congress." He said other evidences that Americans are becoming conscious of the need for education are pointed up in the President's proclamation of American Education Week Nov. 6-12 and the White House Conference on Education Nov. 28-Dec. 1 in Washington, D.C.

He went on to say that the solution to organizing schools more economically and efficiently is to "sit down and take a good common-sense look — not thinking about you or me, but about the kids." He said petty jealousies should be shoved into the background. "People should sit down and look at the problems and let-by-gones be by-gones."

He said the Ohio school map showing school districts in the state "is an excellent example of gerrymandering," adding:

Site Purchased, Fund Campaign To Open Oct. 31

First Christian Church Will Build $325,000 Edifice On East Sixth St.

An 11-acre plot of ground has been purchased on E. Sixth St. by the First Christian Church as a site for a new $325,000 church and Sunday School building.

Announcement of the land purchase was made today by Rev. Harold Deitch, pastor, who said trustees of the church will receive the deed in the near future.

A fund raising campaign with a $125,000 goal will get underway Monday, Oct. 31 with a kick-off dinner at the Masonic Temple for every member of the church. Deaconesses will be in charge of the potluck dinner, with the church furnishing the refreshments.

Hurricane Nears Mexican Gulf Coast

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Hurricane Janet, most vicious killer of the 1955 storm season with an early toll of about 350 victims, drove relentlessly toward the Mexican Gulf Coast today.

The year's 10th hurricane was predicted to hit between Vera Cruz and Tuxpan — probably at Nautla, a tropical seaport of 7,000 people 100 miles north of Vera Cruz.

Cities and towns along a 400-mile strip of Mexico's eastern coast were battened down. Unusual precautions were taken, particularly at Vera Cruz, a major port of 120,000 which handles much of Mexico's shipping.

But the storm was so widespread the Mexican Weather Bureau said it would be felt from north of Tampico, in Mexico's northernmost state, to the Guatemalan border.

Tampico, struggling out of the disaster and debris of two previous hurricanes and a record flood, braced for new blows. The waterlogged oil port of 110,000 reported an outbreak of typhoid Wednesday. Earlier dysentery had developed but was partially controlled. Janet took an estimated 200 lives in the Caribbean area, and probably 150 or more in the Yucatan Peninsula which it slashed with 115-mile winds Wednesday.

First reports said 200 were killed in the peninsula. Later the government revised its figures downward but added it was impossible to obtain complete reports because of the communications breakdown.

Agricutural Board Election Wednesday

The annual election of directors to the Columbiana County Agricultural Society board will be held Wednesday in the former county farm extension office in the Lisbon courthouse, it was announced today by Clarence Crosser, fair board secretary.

Polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Four board members whose three-year terms expire Nov. 1 have filed for three-year terms. They are Walter Johnson of St. Clair township, Curtis F. Hively of Unity Township, P. R. Corey of Columbiana and Crosser of Center township.

Clem Laughlin of Wayne township, president of the County Farm Bureau Cooperatives board of directors, has filed for a two-year term on the fair board to fill the unexpired term of Dean Cranmer, Salem mayor who resigned.

Of the nearly 300 persons who belong the the agricultural society, 265 who reside within the county will be eligible to vote.

V. B. Lemley and Richard Stamp will serve as clerks for the election, while Galen Greenisen and L. H. Copeland will act as judges.

Three Top Democrats Hold Meeting

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP)—Three of the Democratic party's top men ate breakfast together at Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's Pedernales River ranch here today and probably had a lot to say about politics.

In addition to Johnson, Senate majority leader, they were Adlai Stevenson, titular head of the national party, and House Speaker Sam Rayburn who hopes to get the South back into the Democratic column in 1956.

They spent the night as Johnson's guest after Stevenson's lecture before a crowd of 5,500 at the University of Texas in Austin Wednesday night.

Stevenson steered clear of serious politics in his speech, and refused to answer most reporters' questions, saying he had promised not to talk politics before his nonpartisan lecture under auspices of a University of Texas student committee.

Asked if he still intended to wait until November to announce his political plans, Stevenson's reply was "Yes."

Also asked if he intended to reply to Gov. Allan Shivers' statement that he could not support Stevenson if he is the party's nominee in 1956, Stevenson's reply was "I haven't the faintest idea."

Stevenson won more than half a minute of appaulse and laughter at a jab in his speech which did not mention Shivers by name, but

City Meter Take Nears 1954 Toal

Approximately $18,562.96 has been collected in parking meter receipts for the first nine months of 1955, only $2,899.21 less than the entire collection for all of 1954, Mrs. Helen Coyne, city auditor, revealed today.

The total for September was $2,046.86, Mrs. Coyne reported. August's total of $2,518.69 was extremely high because the month had five Tuesday's, she said. Money collected from the meters during the week is counted and recorded each Tuesday.

Claim Peron Boards Plane For Spain

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Unofficial reports say deposed President Juan D. Peron left by plane Wednesday night for Spain. These reports, which are unconfirmed, says Peron was to change planes at Rio de Janeiro.

Peron has been aboard a Paraguayan gunboat for more than a week, and the supposition had been that he was going into exile in Paraguay. But the new government of Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi had been described as opposed to letting Peron stay in that neighboring country too long.

As the report that Peron had gone to Spain circulated, the government took steps to broaden its support and give a shot in the arm to the nation's slowly reviving democratic political life.

U. S. Envoy Seeks To Avert Crisis In The Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has the makings of a first-class crisis on its hands in the Middle East, with the danger of a new Arab-Israeli war in the background.

That is the reason Secretary of State Dulles has sent Georeg Allen, his assistant for Middle Eastern affairs, on an urgent mission to Cairo.

Allen has the evident task of trying to persuade Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser not to import such a volume and variety of arms from Communist Czechoslovakia as would upset the delicate power balance between the Arab states and Israel.

Dulles is understood to have sought to impress the dangers of the situation upon Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in New York. He reportedly argued that a flow of Soviet bloc arms to the Middle East now would violate the spirit of the Geneva Big Four meeting and create new tensions in the world.

Allen was prepared to warn the Egyptian government that if it brought about a radical change in the Middle East power balance the United States would be compelled to review its policies of cooperation with Egypt in the field of economic development—the current U.S. aid program is 43 million dollars—and in policies governing world cotton supplies. The major part of Egypt's foreign income is derived from cotton exports.

At the same time Allen was in position to argue that the United States had offered to sell Egypt arms in small quantities which it was believed here would not create new Middle East tensions and enlarge the dangers of a new war in that area.

Allen left for Cairo Wednesday afternoon.

Premier Nasser said Tuesday that his government had made a deal with Czechoslovakia to trade cotton for arms. He said Egypt could not accept the restrictions imposed on arms shipments from the West. The United States had offered limited supplies for cash and for defense use only.

$2,500 Gift Spurs Band's Miami Drive

An anonymous gift of $2,500 which included a contribution from local industry, today cheered members of the Salem American Legion Quaker City Band on their "On to Miami" campaign.

The local "Ohio Champions" need $3,000 more to finance their trip to the national American Legion convention at Miami, Fla., next Wednesday where the band hopes to win national honors.

Winners of the Ohio Legion band championship two years in succession, the band was second only to Joliet, Ill., in national Legion competition last year at Washington, D.C.

Band members, between rehearsals, have succeeded in soliciting funds to pay part of the band's expense of the Miami trip. Of a $8,000 goal, only $3,000 remains to be secured and the band personnel appealed today to merchants and the general public to help. "Any donation, large or small, will be appreciated," they said.

Spokesmen for some of the local industries which helped to swell today's fund contribution declared "the band has done an excellent job for the community and we're glad to help out. We hope others will do the same."

Band officers will be at the Legion home Friday night to pick up donations from anyone phoning in. The Legion's Dutch Band will play in the downtown section Friday evening.

Spotlight On 'Institutional' Investor In Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp breaks and brisk rallies in stock prices since President Eisenhower's illness swing the spotlight again on the role of the institutional buyer and seller of stocks.

Does he steady the market? Or does he have a part in making price swings more violent?

The volume of shares the institutional investors buy or sell daily has spurted 660 per cent in the last three years, the New York Stock Exchange reports today. And 39 per cent of the institutional trading volume is in blocks of 1,000 or more shares.

Institutional investors include: pension funds, life, fire and casualty insurance companies, mutual savings banks, mutual funds, personal trusts estates, guardianships, investment clubs, educational institutions, religious foundations and profit sharing plans.

Traders watching this week's nervous market have been asking: What are the institutions doing? These have many of the largest holdings of stocks. And when they enter the market it's news.

A Senate subcommittee is eyeing the general role of the institutional investor in the stock market. It is asking if the persistent and voracious demand for stocks by the growing investment funds has exerted an inflationary pressure on stock prices during the bull market.

The senators wonder if by buying so many stocks and putting them in bank boxes, the institutions have made the market thin — and therefore subject to wide price swings because fewer stocks are left for others to trade in.

Some senators have asked if, in time, institutional holdings will grow so large that control of corporations will pass out of individual hands.

The institutions deny or minimize all of these contentions. They point out that because they neither rush in rashly to buy nor panic easily and sell, they are a stabilizing influence on the market.

"The stock exchange is usually regarded as a marketplace primarily for individual members of the public" notes its president, Keith Funston. He adds that this is largely still true. But he says a study by the exchange spells out the growing importance of institutional investors in the market.

Seek For Poison In Body Of Baby Dead 32 Years

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The body of a baby boy who died 32 ears of a baby boy who died 32 years be exhumed from its grave here today to find out if the child was poisoned.

Dr. Robert A. Evans, Franklin County coroner, said the request to have the body examined came from the child's father, Clyde Kenton of Cadiz. Evans said Kenton believes his son, John, who died here April 10, 1923, was poisoned to death. The death certificate says the boy died of a respiratory ailment, Evans said.

The coroner said Kenton told him he had held the belief for years and his conscience finally forced him to have the autopsy made. Kenton will bear the entire expense. Evans said.

Kenton has since divorced the child's mother and has remarried.

If the child had been poisoned, the coroner said, evidence could still be detected in the remains.

New Ohio Laws Become Effective Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Today is the effective date of a new state law designed to bring peace between commercial and hook-and-line fishermen in Sandusky Bay after a generation of conflict.

The new law, generally speaking, bars commercial fishing nets from a mile-wide corridor through the middle of the bay for its entire length. The law also keeps in effect old restrictions against commercial seining around the opening of the bay int othe main body of Lake Erie.

Also effective today is a law which leaves to the new state board of education discretion for transfer of part of a school district in an area annexed to a municipality. Under old law, if all or a part of a scholl district was annexed to city or village for municipal purposes it automatically became a part of the city or village school district.

Another law which went on the books today gives courts authority to increase penalties for persons who criminally assault children.

Effective today, also, the state has authority to sell unneeded land around Ohio's old canal reservoirs —Buckeye, Indian, St. Marys (Grand-, Loramie, Guilford and Portage Lakes—to present leaseholders at 110 per cent of appraised value.

Steaming Old Barrels To Get Whiskey Illegal

LOUISVILLE Ky. (AP)—Steaming old barrels to get whisky is illegal, especially if you fail to pay the federal taxes on the liquid obtained.

This charge was made against 15 Nelson County men in indictments returned here Wednesday by a federal grand jury.

The government charges the men bought more than 16,000 used whisky barrels, took them to farms in Nelson and Anderson counties and obtained whisky from them by steaming the barrels.

The conspiracy deprived the government of approximately $168,000 in taxes, the indictment charged. According to Asst. District Atty. W. D. Jones, each barrel steamed yields a gallon of whisky and the tax on a gallon of whisky is $10.50 a gallon.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Charles S. Bell has given Mrs. Idonah Slade Perkins, wealthy 69-year-old Pleasantville, N. Y., woman 15 days in which to pay $27,500 attorney's fees and $1,422 expenses in connection with a gold mining company stock suit.

If she doesn't pay attorney Robert N. Gorman, the judge said the attorney would be given an equivalent amount in gold mining company stock.

Mrs. Perkins has been declared the owner of 144,000 shares of stock in the Benguet Consolidated Mining Co., of Manila, P. I., worth about $200,000, but she has refused to accept it. It is being held by the court.

Gorman sued for 40,000 shares of the stock as his fee for representing Mrs. Perkins in a suit over the stock ownership. She acted as her own attorney in a stormy hearing here which wound up with her being sent to jail by Judge Bell for four hours for contempt of court.

The elderly woman then sent word yesterday that she was giving up her fight against paying Gorman's fee. She notified Judge Bell she would "do nothing further in Ohio or in this court" and was returning to New York. He then returned the judgment in favor of Grman, a former ohio Supereme Court Judge.

Gift Of Statue Brings Unique Response

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Genoa's gift of a statue of Christopher Columbus to this Ohio capital city named after America's discoverer has brought a unique response from school children here.

Columbus area students from about 180 public and Catholic schools will compile scrapbooks to send to Italian children in approximately 190 Genoa schools.

School officials said the scrapbooks are a token of appreciation for the bronze statue, which will arrive here for unveiling on Columbus Day. The books will contain stories and pictures about the students' schools and communities.

Vacation Travel Hikes Traffic Death Toll

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavy summer vacation travel has boosted the nation's trafic death toll to 1,000 more than it was at the same time last year.

The National Safety Council said today this year's death toll for eight months was 23,470, compared wtih 22,430 last year.

August deaths (3,600) alone jumped 10 per cent, nearly equaling the 11 per cent hike recorded for July.

The last quarter of the year, the council said, normally is the worst because of bad weather and earlier sundown. Th ecouncil urged cautious driving and walking for the balance of 1955.

Airlines Would Serve Eight Ohio Cities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lake Central Airlines would have permanent authority to serve 20 cities, and temporary authority to serve eight others under a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) proposal.

The CAB said yesterday a hearing will be held on the proposal after the 15-day period for filing objections.

The permanent certification proposal includes these cities: Michigan—Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids; Ohio—Columbus, Mansfield, Lima, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Youngstown and Dover-New Philadelphia; Indiana—South Bend, Kokomo-Logansport- Peru, Lafayette, Terre Haute and Indianapolis; Illinois—Danville and Chicago, and Pennsylvania—Pittsburgh.

The CAB proposes temporary three year certification for these cities: Indiana — Marion, Gary, Richmond and Bloomington, and Ohio—Marion, Dayton Springfield and Zanesville. These cities the CAB said, provide fewer than five plane passengers daily, and do not warrant permanent certification.

Picketing Continues At Gro-Cord Co. Plant

LIMA Ohio (AP)—Picketing continued today at the strike-bound Gro-Cord Rubber Co. under two temporary injunctions against pickets making it difficult to enter or leave the plant.

Common Pleas Judge Arthur D. Tudor of Hardin County, sitting by assignment, yesterday agreed to issue the injunctions against local 85 of the CIO United Rubber Workers.

Gro-Cord President Forest Moor yesterday testified pickets prevented entry to the plant by company secretary Don J. Paul. Trainmaster S. H. Burr said pickets prevented a nickel plate railroad crew from getting four cars inside the plant on Sept. 20.

Union officials did not testify at the hearing.

The strike began 28 days ago after the old union contract with Gro-Cord expired. A new negotiation session is planned Oct. 3.

Women At Poker

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It has been an open secret for some time that men find women puzzling.

But the one thing about women that most men feel surest about is—they can't play poker well.

This hardy superstition is perpetuated in a new book called "Dealer's Choice," a collection of famous poker stories by Jerry D. Lewis, a former New York newspaperman.

Lewis, who cautiously dedicated his book "To Louise, without whom there could never be a full house," quotes a psychiatrist as follows:

"The average woman is too curious to play poker well. In an evening's play, she'll have a dozen hands where 'calling the bet' displays a suicide complex. Yet, she can no more resist throwing in the chips than she can help looking at the label in a friend's new coat."

Personally, I think this remark only shows the psychiatrist needs to have his head examined.

According to this theory, psychiatrists themselves should be lousy poker players, because they are more curious than the average woman. They are always asking if you have an overwhelming urge to stick thumbtacks into your mother or salt your daddy's beer with arsenic, and if not, why not.

And if curiosity alone were the hallmark of idiocy, then it naturally would follow that the worst poker player of all would be a lady psychiatrist.

The curiosity to see what's in the other fellow's hand may be a sign of weakness in women at poker. But it is more than balanced by their uncanny ability to see what's in the other fellow's mind. And that is much more important.

Poker isn't a game. It's a matter of practical psychology. And who can figure out what a man will do even before he makes up his own mind? A woman—every time.

If wives really want to know why husbands don't like to let them into their poker games, here are the honest reasons:

1. They win too often.

2. You can't bluff them. They can see through a man's feeble pretence that he holds three aces when he actually only has a feeble pair of tens.

3. They cheat. If their instinct doesn't tell them what you have in your hand, they're always trying to peek and see.

4. After they win all the money, they expect the losers to walk home. They rarely offer to lend a man taxi fare.

The male prejudice against women poker players stems from one thing only—the manly need of self-defense. Let all man call me traitor for admitting it. But it's true.

A Thousand Excuses

The sorest spot it could find in many a businessman-subscriber's economic anatomy was hit by a Wall Street Journal roundup of instances of bungling by sales clerks and service repairmen a few days ago.

No one knows why these indispensable functions of selling the goods and of keeping the buyer satisfied seem to have gone astray in so many places. But everyone seems to have his own outrageous examples of being made angry by a sales person or a repairman.

There are a thousand excuses for what happens, but one of them makes more sense than the other 999. Call it the technological excuse.

Sales people are unable to keep abreast of developments in even a few lines, not to speak of dozens of lines. They lose the confidence and poise they possessed when they knew everything from A to Izzard. They never had confidence and poise in most cases because they never had a chance to sell under circumstances that did not put them at a disadvantage.

Service people are up against the same thing. Technological changes follow one another in rapid succession, leading the public to expect so much more than it can take for granted that a serviceman must be a genius to keep his customers happy. Moreover, he needs to be six men to get around to all the trouble lying in wait for purchasers of completly automatic gadgets that also go completely haywire. There is no such a thing as a do-it-yourself movement in home repairing. Technology has outdistanced comprehension.

If sales and service are giving serious trouble, maybe it is designers and manufacturers who are bungling—not salesmen and servicemen.

Presidential 'Erosion'

Last Aug. 3, President Eisenhower told an Ohio Republican delegation that his decision about a second term would depend on presidential "erosion."

He spoke of the need for young men in top jobs so their vitality and ideas could be used. He pointed out that no president had reached the age of 70 while in office. It was the first overt sign that he inended to put his personal health above all other considerations in deciding whether to seek a second term.

The heart attack he sustained last Saturday thus becomes the key to his thinking, regardless of the probability he will recover. This is the first major evidence of presidential erosion since the Eisenhower administration was organized.

Although the President may survive without physical impairment, as most coronary occlusion victims do, the mental effect will be permanent.

The new great certainty in presidential politics is the uncertainty in President Eisenhower's own mind about the state of his health.

The balance of probability has been altered from what it was before he went to Fitzsimons Army Hospital last Saturday afternoon. Then he was a man who never had been ill and probably would continue to be in good health. Afterward, he was a man who had ben stricken with what might have been a fatal heart attack.

Each day that passes will add a substantial increase to his margin of security for eventual recovery. I also will add substantially to the awareness of both political parties that the entire shape of presidential politics was drastically altered last Saturday by an incident of presidential erosion more drastic than anyone foresaw last Aug. 3 when Dwight Eisenhower was talking about the prospect for being a second-term candidate in 1956.

International Freezer

If you are using a food freezer, Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd's proposal that the Antarctic could become a vast storage vault for frozen foods will seem as logical as thawing out two pounds of frozen hamburger for supper.

The only difference between the home freezers now in use and the Antarctic freezer would be their size. The antarctic would be so vast that thousands of food ships could be tied up along its shorelines, awaiting the time when their cargoes of surplus food might be needed. The world could be assured of food for the lean years by saving the bounty of the fat years.

It would be the most imaginative innovation in food-handling since our remote ancestors developed brines and syrups to preserve what neither could be eaten on the spot nor successfully dried.

There are only a few food commodities that could not be stored successfully in Antarctic food ships. But there is one catch, mankind being what it is.

Who would stand guard over the international freezer to keep check on thieving pixies who now eat up all the ice cream and leave the empty containers?

Democrats' Handicap

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Public Afraid Of Party's Socialistic Faction

The American people are afraid of the Democratic party—afraid of its present biased position in favor of state socialism, wasteful spending of the taxpayer' money and the gradual sabotage of the private-enterprise system.

Lawrence

That's the plain meaning of the stock Market's violent reaction to the first news of President Eisenhower's illness. The impression had been built up in recent months that unless the President ran for a second term the Democrats would sweep into all branches of the government including the judiciary. Fear of a Democratic victory has made business men panicky.

The illusion that only Eisenhower could win in 1956 has been fostered to some extent even by some Republicans who now perhaps see the unwisdom of their theories and are beginning to talk of the Eisenhower team as one that could be successfully continued under another Republican president.

While the stock market may rally again and again as better news comes from Denver, the biggest impact of the break may yet be felt by the Democratic party itself which is sorely in need of a reconstituted leadership.

THE COUNTRY MOVED toward the brink of disaster in fiscal affairs under the Truman administration but was saved by the conservatives in the Democratic party in Congress who hail from the South. Now the number of these southern conservatives is dwnidling as men like Sen. George and Sen. Lyndon Johnson tend to go along with the once conservative but now politically radical Samuel Rayburn, speaker of the House, who is an ardent believer in Trumanism.

The gradual infiltration of radicalism in some of the southern political organizations has made it possible for state socialistic doctrine in the field of natural resources to be openly championed by Sen. Kefauver, himself a contender for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

Sen. Byrd, on the other hand, and his able colleague, Sen. Robertson, stand at the head of a small band of conservatives who are preventing radicalism from capturing the entire Democratic party.

THE PROSPECT is that now with the enormous labor-union funds available directly or indirectly for political purposes the Democratic party may be taken over lock, stock and barrel by the big labor-union monopoly known as the AFL-CIO merger. This could mean a return of the one-sided Wagner Act and an era of labor-management strife if the Democrats win the White House.

What frightens business men is the type of comment made by former President Truman just the other day when he denounced the six justices of the Supreme Court who ruled against him in his seizure of the entire steel industry. He now says that the minority opinions of the three justices in dissent will some day become the court's opinion. Is this a hint that the court will be "packed" again some day by a Democratic regime as it was under President Roosevelt?

NEITHER THE Hennings committee of the Senate which supposedly is investigating constitutional rights nor "The Fund for the Republic"—a tax-free foundation which is distributing political propaganda allegedly about "due process of law"—is likely to study these abuses of constitutional rights and especially a dictatorial act by Truman. He ignored the join tresolution of both houses of Congress requesting him to use his powers under the Taft-Harltey Act to halt the steel strike in 1952 and instead, without warrant of any law, ordered all steel plants to be taken over by the federal government.

The Supreme Court promptly nullified the order but the American business community has not forgotten that this is what happens under a Democratic administration whose concepts of government ownership or control of the steel industry have not been confined to the single order of seizure but to arguments hinting at nationalization. It was the short-lived attempt at nationalization which almost wrecked the steel industry in Great Britain.

MAYBE THE STOCKMARKET break will have a sobering influence on the Democratic party in the selection of a presidential candidate. Adlai Stevenson originally had a conservative background but in 1952 for expediency's sake he made common cause with the radicals and especially the labor-union politicians.

Gov. Averell Harriman inherited a fortune made by his father, the railroad pioneer, and himself spent a large part of his life in the financial and business district in New York City. He ought to know the limits to which radicalism can be accepted under the guise of "liberalism" and still retain in some measure the confidence of business. In many respects he would make a better candidate for the Democrats in these times than Stevenson. At least Harriman has kept aloof from the Americans for Democratic Action.

The handwriting on the wall is plain. Unless the Democrats as a party in the next Congress can prove themselves to be true friends of the private-enterprise system and remove the widespread belief that the Democratic leadership of today is the potential enemy of business, the Republicans will have an easy victory in November 1956 in winning not only the White House but both houses of Congress no matter whom they nominate.

A nation with 30 million families earning incomes over $3,000 a year isn't going to risk a panic or a depression or a period of socialistic experimentation that can halt business expansion and produce unemployment.

Your Health

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Allergic Sensitivity

The question of allergy is brought up frequently by many correspondents. Some write that they are allergic to foods others to dust, pollen or other- things breathed in. Sometimes the allergic sensitivity takes the form of asthma, some times hives, and sometimes other unpleasant reactions of the body.

Dr. Jordan

What is known as allergy then, is a complicated subject and only one aspect of it can be discussed today.

Allergy is an increased sensitiveness to some foreign protein, and this protein can be contained in foods, inhaled in the form of pollen from the air, or contact with such things as weeds or lacquer.

Foods, therefore, are only one source of allergic reaction, but they can produce many kinds of difficulty.

When the food causing the trouble is known and there is only one kind of food and that rarely used, the difficulty can be controlled by avoiding it. In some cases, however, a person may be sensitive to wheat or milk, both of which are used in the cooking and preparation of so many foods that a real problem exists.

The management of food allergy is almost always difficult. The first problem is to find out what food, or foods, are at fault. Sometimes simple dislike may give a clue. The patient himself may be able to tell from sad exerience what foods (like shrimps or strawberries) always give trouble.

The history of reactions is important. In other words, a person ought to know pretty well what he or she has eaten at a meal which was followed by hives or other signs of food allergy.

Skin tests with various foods are commonly used, but are not always completely reliable and it requires an expert to interpret them. Trial diets which include or exclude suspected foods are often helpful in finding the foods responsible. A food diary by which a record is kept of the foods eaten each meal may be of help.

Sometimes a diet can be outlined which at least temporarily eliminates some of the foods to which the patient is sensitive.

Little by little, one or more of the foods can be added and eventually a tolerable diet built up.

Those who are afflicted with sensitivity to a great many foods are truly unlucky and face a long and difficult problem.

Health Vs. Age

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

President Eisenhower, at the age of 64, played golf every day for six weeks, in rain or shine, except perhaps when he went fishing. It was a concentrated physical period, presumably with a degree of relaxation from the cares of state.

Sokolsky

The question will long be debated whether all this physical exercise brought on his thrombosis or whether it might not have come all of itself because of his condition of arteriosclerosis.

It is often noted that men who had lived active lives in business, after they retire at 65, take to the golf course or to rushing about the world on tours, and drop dead from a rebellious heart.

For those who are accustomed ot long hours at a desk, th esuddenness of physical strain can indeed be dangerous.

DESPITE THE FACT that President Eisenhower has been a soldier all his adult life, in recent years most of his work has been at a desk.

I cannot help contrasting Eisenhower's young years with such oldsters as Herbert Hoover (81), Bernard Baruch (85), or Atuo Toscanini (88).

Hoover's life is entirely sedentary except for occasional spurts of fishing. Nevertheless, he is capable of enormous mental exertion for an enormous number of hours each day. He does not fatigue readily.

Bernard Baruch, who cares for himself with unusual diligence, takes little exercise ordinarily but does like the sun and sits in it for long periods. He occasionally rides a horse and shoots birds.

ARTURO TOSCANNI is now retired, but any conductor of a symphony orchestra taxes his body by terrific physical exercise for several hours during concerts and rehearsals. Few professional athletes involve as many muscles in exercise as one who leads such an orchestra.

Pierre Monteux, who is 80, conducts a long opera at the Metropolitan, is constantly a guest conductor which requires travel all over the world and teaches conducting during the summer. Bruno Walter at 79 follows a similar regime.

From these examples, it is possible to conclude that there is no rule, that each human body is exceptional. However, when a man suffers from arteriosclerosis, he knows it. His blood pressure, for one thing, goes up. So does his temper. So does his tendency to be fatigued easily.

A man whose blood pressure rises to 220 at 64 should not do all the things that a man of 50 can do with a blood pressure of under 150.

--THE TOUBLE with all of us is that having lived long full, energetic lives, we refuse to recognize the facts of physical existence one of which is that few who have led sedentary lives may suddenly take on concentrated exercise without risk. And very few of us are prepared to admit to ourselves that we canno teat as much as we did when we were growing boys.

It is along in middle age that Americans, together with what we like to call leisure, believe themselves to be gourmets, which, in this country may mean little more than learning how to eat an educated hamburger. All over the country portly men, during the summer, barbecue steaks really spoiling good meat with layers of indigestible condiments to which Hindus but not Americans are accustomed.

THEY EAT RAW ONIONS on which the children of Italy are reared but which have only become fashionable in this country in recent years as a garnishing of hamburgers and hard boiled eggs They generally enjoy themselves and overeat—with attendant results.

The answer to all this is, "Be your age!" or to put it more accurately, "Know Thyself!" But who am I to preach—I who have broken all the rules of physical life? The answer is that only those who broke those rules can know the consequences from personal experiences.

THERE COMES a time in each man's life when he must learn that a baby is fed huge quantities of milk to make bones but that an arthritic must avoid excess calcium and that while a lot of steak and corn on the cob with gobs of butter may be the greatest joy outdoors, such fare does not help the diabetic. While golf may be a wonderful game, a man with high blood pressure cannot afford violent exercise under a blazing sun.

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: The rain has been pelting down for more than an hour, bringing all the loosened leaves with it. Naturally, we have a blaze going in the fireplace. It is the right time of year for the fireplace ritual.

There is more significance to the ritual as you grow older, but I suppose you have found that out for yourself. In our case, it is even more important than it used to be that the wood be from a tree whose living and dying has been part of our own experience.

It also is desirable that there should be a dog and a cat to share the warmth, although we sometimes are up against it for just one cat because our cats come in bunches, like bananas.

Then if possible you add an old friend and a congenial stranger. This cannot usually be done, we realize, but we are talking about an ideal ritual. Tonight we are having just an ordinary ritual with old friend, congenial stranger and cat missing.

We are commemorating the snugness of our lot in life and giving a tender thought to all who are without dryness and heat when winter comes. That is why the complete ritual needs a stranger—to symbolize someone in need of a snug place to stay when the rain begins to lull our hemisphere into its winter sleep.

We are being thankful for the health that is still in us and the joy of living that is still ours after so many years. We are wishing that all the animals who share the earth with us may survive in comfort and security — and that accounts for the dog and cat. Actually, our cats are more comfortable in their places in the straw in the barn than they would be in here, so we can think of them out there.

Perhaps it is best to think of old friends the same way — as being happier where they are than they would be here. If they were here, they would worry about something. Or they would watch the clock. Or we would watch the clock. Old friends never are what they are cracked up to be when you come right down to it. But in front of a fireplace with a book blaze going, I know of nothing nicer than to think about than old friendships.

As I was saying in my letter of a eek ago about autumn, you can look into the flames and see all your ancesters huddled around countless fires. The fireplace ritual is universal.

I have no objection to the fancy fireplace we use for the ritual in this house. It draws well and is big enough to roast a small ox. But it is no match for the homier fireplaces we have had in other houses. To tell the truth, it cannot compare with a plain fire on the lee side of a rock in the shelter of a tree, but I would hate to rustle up enough dry wood to start a fire outside tonight. And I would not enjoy it, with rain running down my neck and your aunt telling me in a firm tone that she did not intend to put with such discomfort another minute.

The end of the fireplace ritual is to fall asleep and wake up when the fire is almost out. That is the next thing on the agenda. Please convey our regards to the family and may all your fireplace wood be apple!

Thoughts For Today

The words of a man's mouth are as deep waters, and the wellspring of wisdom as a flowing brook.—Proverbs 18:4.

Talking and eloquence are not the same: to speak, and to speak well are two things. A fool may talk but a wise man speaks. — Ben Jonson.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Letter To The President

Dear President Eisenhower: There's one button in every lapel in America today: "We Like Ike Back in the Pink." "Get well!" is the national prayer. Seldom have presidents been more beloved. You are a chief executive for whom the general public feels the deepest affection. And prayers are all the more earnest because we are all responsible for your heart attack: The nation, the people, your closest friends and advisers and maybe your doctors.

The back-breaking, heart-busting, nerve-wracking routines which we have expected a White House occupant to endure. . . . (Summit conferences, flights here and there and everywhere, international problems, home schedules, dedications, conventions, exercises and speeches have been too much for any man to stand.)

-:-

THE HEART OF A WORK-HORSE is not up to the routine expected of a president. A pack-mule's ticker will crack under less strain. To anybody who knew anything about the human heart, your routines of the past year, and especially of the last few months, have brought the cries, "How long can he take it?" and "How foolish can his closest advisers get?"

From late boyhood you have been a slave to duty, a man of terrific energy and a fellow who would never spare himself in any job.

Today you have but one duty . . . a duty to yourself and family. Every doctor knows that, even after the mildest heart attack, rest and complete freedom from worry, responsibility, emotion or excitement are mandatory. The country will do all right and do it better if it knows you're getting well fast.

When you get back on your feet it will be a break for you and for your country if you realize that you are not a physical superman, an iron deer, a beast of burden or a combination of Abe Lincoln, Ben Hogan, Napoleon Bonaparte and Rocky Marciano.

ALL OF US WHO ARE praying for you helped to put you in bed, Ike. For we tolerated your leading a life like that of a man on roller skates in a revolving door with the cares of the world on his back. Vacation! If what you had was a vacation so is skin-diving at the foot of Niagara Falls!

If we had sense we would demand that not one doctor, but a group serve in the White House and be required to get tough and make certain a president isn't overdoing things. I don't see how any medical man could have observed your schedules and not yelled, "Stop!"

No matter what anybody says, you will have to take it easy when you get out of the repair pit. Maybe you will not be up to a second term, but you will always remain a forceful figure in the conduct of American affairs, a powerful influence for the welfare of the nation and a top figure of prestige here and all over the world. You're that kind, Ike. So take it easy, do what the doctors say, don't even discuss golf with the nurses and rest assured that the rooting for your recovery makes the rooting at the world series seem like a whisper at the bottom of a well.

Sincerely Joe Public.

OLD-FASHIONED BELIEF of the small fry that when they lose a tooth the fairies put money under their pillows led to this exchange between Art Linkletter and a charming five-year-old girl the other day . . . . "How much did you find under your pillow?" Art asked. "Seventy-five cents," the child replied. "Who left it?" "A fairy left it." 'And where did the fairy get it?" "AT LAS VAGAS."

The first commercial on British TV was for a toothpaste. . . . Now in addition to its other troubles England must see a dentist twice a year and see to it that the sun never sets on a British case of halitosis.

Strike At A-Plant Apparently Averted

CINCINNATI (AP)—A threatened strike of 1,800 AFL production and maintenance workers at the Fernald Atomic Energy Plant apparently had been averted today. The strike was to have started at midnight tonight.

Federal mediator Samuel M. Spencer announced last night that a tentative agreement had been reached on working conditions, frige benefits and wages. It will be up for rejection or ratification at a meeting tomorrow of the AFL Trades and Labor Council Executive Board.

The AFL machinists were directly affected in the contract dispute but business representative William C. Smith said other AFL unionists planned to respect picket lines.

Details of the new contract were not disclosed. The Fernald plant is operated by the National Lead Co., of Ohio.

Sandra Sue Baker Becomes Bride of Columbiana Man

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, E. W. Baker of Rogers, Miss Sandra Sue Baker became the bride of Loyal E. Hoffman of Columbiana during a ceremony performed Sunday afternoon in the Rogers Methodist Church.

Mrs. Dale Seachrist, sister of the bride rendered nuptial melodies at the organ.

The bride's waltz length gown was embroidered tiered nylon tulle over taffeta, and her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a lace cap. The bride wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and pink roses.

Miss Sally Baker, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Herman Monet, sister of the bridegroom, was a bridesmaid. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Baker wore blue with pink accessories and Mrs. Hoffman, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in navy with white accessories.

No. 4—Parents and Delinquency.

Parenthood Without Hokum

By HOWARD WHITMAN

"My father — he's a beaut! He's just a lowdown so-and-so. He don't give a darn if I live or die," the boy said.

But lets start at the beginning. The boy — whom we'll call Bud—was a 16-year-old wearing a faded purple jacket and grey denim slacks. He stopped me as I was entering the Hotel Roosevelt in New Orleans and asked for money to get something to eat.

The boy had been on the bum for three weeks, sleeping in flop houses, washing dishes or panhandling for money to buy food. He had quit high school in Chicago and struck out for Miami in hopes of "striking it rich" — as he put it —in vacation land.

When this failed he started bumming and hitch-hiking with nothing but the clothes on his back. He had been washing his clothes at night but his one pair of socks wouldn't take it any longer; they gave out and he had thrown them away the day before.

BEFORE I TOK HIM to a local family agency to get him back on the track, Bud told me his story.

His mother, he said, had died three years ago — "She was the only person who ever gave a darn for me." Bud's father had divorced her three years earlier and had gone off and married another woman. So Bud was kind of an orphan, staying with grandparents and hating life for the raw deal it had given him, running away now and then to get revenge.

He was bitter when he talked of his father. With a choked and sullen voice he said, "They oughtn't to let him walk out like that. He's just for himself — looking for his own good times. What happens to me doesn't matter. He never sends any money, never even writes to find out if I'm alive."

If Bud were the next boy to turn up on your front page as a delinquent, would you wonder whom to blame?

The next day in Baton Rouge, La., I visited the Juvenile Detention Home and met Charlie, age 15, and his brother, Leonard, 16. Charlie also was a runaway — from Kansas City. He wore the blue jeans and T-shirt of the teen-ager and had a mop of sandy hair which was three weeks overdue at the barber shop. Charlie had run away to join the merchant marine and had been picked up as a vagrant.

WE SAT DOWN TOGETHER in the green, dadoed living room of the new detention home.

"Len and me left home beaus w couldn't stand it any longer," Charlie said. "All Mom cared about was card games. She played cards and bingo five and six nights a week She even used the money Len and me made working after school."

Leonard added, "When she got mad she'd curse at us and tell us we were just in the way, that if it weren't for us she could be free and have a good time."

The boys described the professional card games to which their mother was addicted. She would pay 50 cents or a dollar for a seat at a table and then play cards until she was either broke or intoxicated with winnings, which she would take back and lose the next night.

The boys' father, as they described him was well intentioned but weak and unable to do any thing about it. When their mother used the household money for her card games it was bad enough. But when she insisted they turn over the money they made working after school, they decided to light out.

BUD, CHARLIE AND LEN were living illustrations of what judges in a dozen juvenile courts had told me: that 90 per cent of the youth problem is the irresponsibility of parents.

Some judges have made strong recommendations. In Florida, the Governor's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, meeting in Pensacola last January, heard Escambia County Judge Harvey E. Page suggest the whipping post for parents who wilfully shirk their jobs. Later Judge Page said to me:

"We've allowed too many parents to push their duties onto somebody else's shoulders. They bring children into the world, and first they want the schools to raise them, then they want the playgrounds to do the job, and finally they want the police and the courts to raise them. It can't be done. We just have to serve notice on parents that raising their children is their own job—and nobody is going to do it for them."

Santa Rosa County Judge W. A. Bonifay, who also attended the conference, tersely stated, "If there were a little more court at home, we judges would hold less court in the courthouse."

AT THE JUVENILE COURT of San Francisco I was conferring in chambers with Judge Milton D. Sapiro when there was a knock on the door. A man about 35 came in, hat in hand. He was the father of a boy in one of San Francisco's kid gangs which had slashed the tires of parked cars, broken plate glass windows and stoned streetcars.

The man seemed very put out that he had been required to come down to court. His attitude: this was the court's headache, why did he have to be dragged into it? After a brief discussion he left. When the door had closed Judge Sapiro, kindly and mild-mannered, leaned back on his chair and looked toward the ceiling with puzzled eyes. "I just don't understand what has gotten into parents these days" he said.

A review of some of the dominant ideas about parenthood during the last 20 years provide some possible clues. Parents were imbued with the idea that fredom was what childrn needed most, and any attempt to regulate it or modify it would mark the parent as unenlightened and a fuddy-duddy.

Under the influence of galloping new moods in psychology, some of our experts felt that individual parents weren't much good at rearing children anyway and it would be far better to have them reared on a community basis. The school and social agency could do a much better job, these experts said. Almost anything a parent wanted to do — out of the depths of his natural instincts or the meditations of his mind and heart—was wrong anyway.

CHASTENED BY UNHAPPY experience (juvenile court delinquency cases have risen 45 to 50 per cent in five years and the end is not in sight) most observers today are ready to return the job of child-rearing to the parents — and let them do it their way.

We cannot put a policeman over each boy's shoulder, nor should we ever want to. Neither can the social worker, the probation worker or the bright young man in the police juvenile bureau take the place of mother and father in the natural scheme of things. It is doubtful that society ever will be capable of providing public mothers and fathers where the Creator provided private and personal ones.

The modern parent may not like to think that he must be an agent of law and order with his own children. Somehow this seems to sully the notion of parental love.

Yet which is the loving way — to train your children yourself, here and now, or to leave it to the police, the sergeant in the army, or the boss in the office to do it later on? Though the job may be difficult, parents can certainly put more love into it than total strangers.

WIL LC. TURNBLADH, executive director of the National Probation and Parole Assn., pinpointed the present situation in these words, "We must once again recognize that parents are the No. 1 authority in a youngster's life. We have swung pretty far away from the notion of parental responsibility, to the notion that when a youngster does wrong it is society's fault.

"Today the situation is critical and we must get parents back on the job. We can't stand idly by and chew our nails."

Turnbladh suggested that for some parents who are wilfully negligent we might need something like Parents Anonymous to do what A. A. does for alcoholics. There even might be a "hard core" of parents who need disciplinary action, he acknowledged.

Bu tcertainly no whipping post will be necessary. In the opinion of this observer, most parents want to do the right thing. And if many have failed, it often has been because they were discouraged from doing it. All they need is a green light.

Salem Man Unhurt In Downing Of Plane

A Salem man and three Cardington, O., residents narrowly escaped death recently when the small plane they were flying over Winchester, Va., stalled in a dense fog and was forced down in a pasture field.

Herman Stratton of Buckeye Ave. together with Joseph Mosher and Mrs. Harry Mosher of Cardington were flying in the plane piloted by Harry Mosher when fog forced the plane down, breaking off a landing wheel and damaging the body of the plane.

Joseph Mosher and Stratton were on a tour of Friends churches in behalf of a stewardship program of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends.

COPPER PRICES TO FALL

WASHINGTON (AP) —Coffee prices should tumble before the year's end, more than erasing the recent retail price boosts which ranged up to four cents a pound.

This was the consensus today of trade observers here, who noted a world surplus of coffee is expected and new harvests star tcoming to market in November and December.

Prices might break even before November, the observers said, should coffee-growing Brazil soon go ahead with a long-rumored currency devaluation which would make her coffee cheaper in terms of U.S. dollars.

Indecision Exists On GOP Choice

Nixon Mentioned Most As Ike's Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Great indecision exists among professional Republican party workers over who would be the GOP's strongest candidate next year if President Eisenhower elects to return to private life.

Vice President Nixon was mentioned far more frequently than any other GOP figure by state Republican chairmen, national committeemen and national committeewomen reached by The Associated Press.

But almost two thirds of those replying to a questionnaire either declined to name a "strongest candidate" other than Eisenhower or mentioned from two to half a dozen men whom they termed equally good.

This uncertainty cannot be considered unusual. It was only five days ago that Eisenhower suffered a heart attack and thus set many party leaders to thinking for the first time about an alternative.

Many of the 116 party leaders reached declined to speculate on a presidential nominee next year, if Eisenhower does not run, even though it was understood they would not be quoted by name if they did not wish to be.

Twenty-three named Nixon as being currently the strongest possible standard bearer next to Eisenhower. Some said he had gained this stature by his own efforts; others indicated they regard him as a logical successor now because of his position as vice president.

But 74 party leaders declined to voice any opinion, and 10 more mentioned up to a half a dozen possible candidates as strong, without ranking them in any order. Most of those in the latter category included Nixon; several did not.

Others designed as the "strongest candidate" by two or more party officials were Chief Justice Earl Warren, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Milton S. Eisenhower; one each mentioned Thomas E. Dewey and Sen. William F. Knowland of California.

Similarly inconclusive were the party officials' replies to the question: 'Do you believe Eisenhower should run again?"

More or less firmly, 5 said he should and 12 said he should not. The vast majority said he should if physicians tell him he is sound and would not be endangering his health.

A number cited reports from the President's bedside in Denver that he has been making good progress and that there have been no complications.

A few voiced views similar to those expressed by some of Eisenhower's closest associates, saying that a man with a heart attack behind him should be extremely wary about shouldering again the burdens of the White House.

Conference Of GOP Women's Clubs Opens

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The annual fall conference of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Clubs opens here today with a pre-convention hint by the National Federation president that President Eisenhower will not run again in 1956.

Mrs. Carroll D. Kearns, wife of a Pennsylvania congressman, said in Dayton yesterday that Eisenhower has often remarked 'he would never want to be a candidate if he were not physically at his best." The President now is recovering from a heart attack.

Mrs Kearns made the statement to a newsman at the home of Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown, Ohio Federation president. Both women will be at the opening of today's three-day convention. It is being held simultaneously here with the six-state regional conference of the national group.

Convention speakers include Ohio's Republican Sens. John W. Bricker and George H. Bender, Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), and Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa).

Arbitration Board Seeks To Settle Dispute

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—An arbitration board today will start discussion of a dispute that has idled 1,400 construction workers at the Kyger Creek power plant at nearby Cheshire.

Kyger Creek, still under construction is one of two plants supplying power for the big atomic plant at Piketon.

The strike began yesterday. F. R. Carman, resident engineer, said the dispute involves handling of materials by sheet metal workers which teamsters and warehousemen contend violates their contract.

All construction workers, except sheet metal workers and painters refused to cross picket lines.

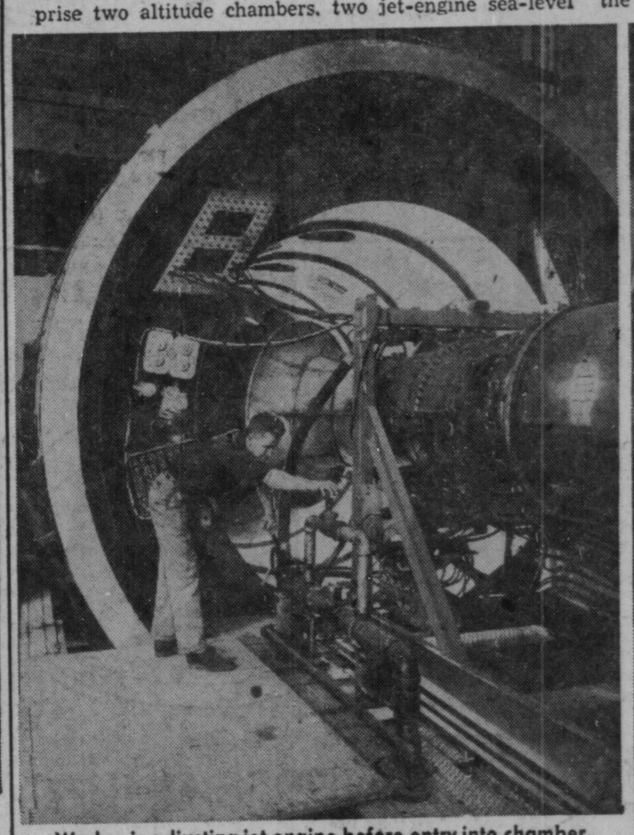
NAVY FLEXES ITS AIR ARM

FROM SUBSONIC TO SUPERSONIC, jet and turbo-prop engines are going through rugged paces at a multi-million dollar Naval Air Turbine test station in West Trenton, N. J., to put new muscles in the Navy's air power. At altitudes ranging from sea level to 65,000 feet, these engines go through exhausting performance tests in five concrete and steel cells. The test cells comprise two altitude chambers, two jet-engine sea-level test cells and one altitude cell for turbo-prop engines. The altitude chambers are cylinder-like rooms 15 feet in diameter. Here, the engines go through all conceivable altitude and speed conditions. An intricate electronic control system, built by Minneapolis-Honeywell engineers, operates chambers as well as other test cells. The two sea level cells probe into structural strength of the jet engines and also measure the fuel consumption.



Worker is adjusting jet engine before entry into chamber.

This piping, part of refrigeration lines, feeds into cell.

which was an obvious reference to their political enmity.

The 1952 presidential candidate had disclaimed his qualifications to speak on "America, the Economic Colossus,' saying he was not a full-time expert on such matters.

"Must I conclude that you young Texans asked me to speak because I am a full-time Democrat?" he asked. The audience laughed and cheered.

In 1952, Shivers repudited Stevenson when the Democratic candidate refused to uphold Texas' tidelands claims.

Much of Stevenson's 50-minute paid lecture stuck closely to the general subjects of trade and aid, and the need to back up talk about trade with other nations with performance.

Stevenson said that freedom would suffer a staggering blow if the uncommitted third of the world turns to communism. He suggested a carefully administered program of economic and technical assistance to nations that need it.

'Satisfactory' Progress

Some of the bulletins from the presidential bedside at Fitzsimons Army Hospital mention satisfactory "progress." Others speak only of a satisfactory "condition." Consistently they include the phrase "without complications."

Hagerty disavowed any significance in the use of "progress" in all of Tuesday's bulletins and the first of four Wednesday, then a shift to "condition." He said it merely represented an effort to vary the wording.

He told a news conference last night that "of course" the President's progress still was satisfactory.

In Boston, Dr. White said last night that the latest report on Eisenhower was "good" and the return of the President's blood pressure "toward its usual level" was a "particularly good sign".

Hagerty disclosed that Eisenhower is being held to 1,600 calories of food a day because the doctors are "trying to keep him from putting on too much weight while he is inactive and lying in bed." Lately, Eisenhower has weighed around 175 to 180 pounds—slightly above the 172 pounds of his cadet days at West Point.

For the first time since he went to the hospital, Eisenhower rested and napped Wednesday outside the oxygen tent. The tent was removed, and taken from the hospital room at 6:30 a.m.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who has remained at the hospital since Saturday night, saw her husband during the morning, lunched with him at noon and spent 10 or 15 minutes with him around 7 p. m.

Church History Dates Back to 1859

The Christian Church which will celebrate its centennial in 1959, was purchased from the Methodist Church in 1859.

Former pastors of the church include Theobald Miller, S. B. Teegarden, E. B. Cake, James Darsie, Sterling McBride, J. W. Lamphear, H. I. Miller, C. F. Evans and Errett Scott.

The present Salem Christian Church was organized March 15 1859.

The erection of the present building began in 1869. The basement was dedicated by William Baxter, Jan. 1, 1871, and the auditorium on Sept. 17 of the same year by Isaac Errett, editor of the Christian Standard. The edifice cost $13,000. In the summer of 1893 the building was improved and enlarged by the addition of a two story annex at a cost of $4,800.

The church had, at its organization, about 80 members. It now numbers about 700 members. Samuel Hardman was the first elder. L. B. Webb, Edwin Smith, Joseph Pyle and Simeon Stratton were the first deacons.

In the last 14 months the Bible school and church attendance has doubled and 125 new members have been added. A new parsonage at 385 West Tenth St. has been purchased.

Two Salem men were among the county men passing the examinations. The group includes:

John T. Samuels of 270 Fairview Ave., Canfield, Mahoning County, also passed the exams.

Of all the applicants, 253 were engineers and 14 surveyors seeking full registration, 336 received certificates as engineers in training and 17 were accredited as surveyors in training.

Four Cars Involved In Route 9 Crash

A four-car, chain reaction collision was investigated by state highway patrolmen on Route 9, one mile south of Salem, at 11:20 a.m. Wednesday.

Patrolmen said Minnie Fultz, 45, of RD 2, Salem, attempted to make a left turn while traveling north on Route 9, and that two cars operated by Edward Gamble, 80, of Winona, and John Huston, 46, of RD 1, North Lima, stopped in the line of traffic behind her.

A fourth car operated by Junior Warner, 24, of Columbiana, then crashed into the rear of the Gamble car, the patrol reported. The impact of the first crash caused the Gamble car to run into the rear of the Huston car and the Huston auto to crash into the Fultz vehicle.

Considerable damage was received by all four cars, patrolmen said. Warner was cited by patrolmen for reckless operation.

Morris' car hit headon with an automobile driven by Charles F. Brenneman, 44, of East Liverpool, injuring Brenneman, his wife, and two children.

Herbert Clark, of Cleveland, cited Wednesday on N. Market St. by village police for driving left of center, forfeited a $20 bond yesterday.

Wellsville

"Eleven per cent of our high schools in Ohio have enrollments under 100. They can give you a good education, but they're expensive." He said one Ohio school pays out about $1,300 per year per pupil. At that rate, he said, the school board would be farther ahead if it sent its pupils to private schools.

Speaks on 2 Topics

Longsworth spoke on two topics, "A Look at Ohio's School Problems" and "In What Ways Can we Organize our Schools More Efficiently and Economically."

Seward Daw, Wellsville superintendent and county chairman of the White House Conference, was unanimously chosen to represent the county at the White House Conference in Washington, D.C.

Daw will compile the reports handed in by delegates who discussed the topics the six speakers spoke on and will take them to Columbus Oct. 24, he said. The discussions lasted for more than an hour.

Daw was the only person nominated for the delegate post by the nominating committee comprised of Betts, Kerr and McBride. No nominations were submitted from the floor.

Ted Harsh, superintendent of the East Palestine schools, spoke on the topic, "What Should Our Schools Accomplish."

Harsh said "What our schools can accomplish is unlimited. We must meet the challenges that are before us." He said some of these challenges are greater efficiency in schools, more adequate use of time, need for more teachers and more money for the schools and the necessity for "greater preparation for our teachers." Quoting from Time magazine, he said, " 'Every man should be a Horace Mann'."

E. S. Kerr, superintendent of Salem schools, spoke on "What Are Our Building Needs." "Our building needs," he said, "can be summed up in one sentence: In the next five years the United States will need 470,000 classrooms—one every eight minutes around the clock."

Kerr said Salem's building needs are typical throughout the nation. By 1959, he said, Salem will need room for 598 youngsters.

Loren Early, Lisbon superintendent of schools, speaking on the topic, "How Can We Get Enough Good Teachers and Keep Them," said if one of every seven graduates from college became a teacher, the need would be filled. He said if the kindergarten movement, which has increased 200 per cent could be "held back 10 years," the need would be offset.

He went on to say that schools would have more teachers if the junior-college idea were allowed to lie dormant for awhile and if a new law permitting more school supervisors were not put into practice right away.

Early said 2,030 teachers were needed this year in Ohio schools. It will be 10 years before the teacher shortage can be met, he said.

Citing methods of keeping teachers, Early said schools should: try to keep the ones they already have by checking the reasons for teachers leaving their school systems, give new teachers proper supervision to start them off right, and cultivate receptive attitudes in the minds of supervisors and parents towards teachers.

Ralph Betts, superintendent of East Liverpool schools, in his speech on "How Can we Finance Our Schools," said financing of schools raises three questions: 1. Should the state participate to a greater extent than it is now doing? 2. Should the federal government give more aid? 3. Should real estate continue to support greater school costs?

Betts said 74 per cent of the schools' income comes from local taxation, 24 per cent from foundation funds and the rest from federal outlays. "Ohio can afford to support the schools," he said, adding that it ranks eighth in ability to support education but 43rd in "what it's actually doing in that respect."

James L. McBride, superintendent of county rural schools, in speaking on "How Can we Obtain a Continuing Public Interest in Education," cited three precepts in his talk. He said "we should understand that: 1. schools belong to the people; 2. schools have two main jobs to perform — to improve the individual and to improve the community; and 3. the school is only one of a number of institutions, movements and forces in education."

School needs can be met, McBride said, by involving "Mr. Average Citizen in school affairs," by an adequate public-relations program, utilizing the press, observing such things as American Education Week and fostering groups such as home-room mothers' clubs,

New Operations Devised In Last 10 Years

Sick Hearts Are Transformed To Health By Bold Surgery

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
(3rd of a Series)

NEW YORK (AP)—Sick and hungry human hearts are being transformed to health by a new era of bold, brilliant surgery.

Surgeons, dreaming of things once considtred impossible, went pioneering so that today:

Several different operations can bring renewed life and strength to hearts damaged by attacks such as President Eisenhower suffered.

Heart-lung machines can put human hearts and lungs on complete vacations while they are opened and repaired.

The blood circulation of a sick child and healthy adult can be linked together during surgery.

Spare arteries taken from the dead are banked, then used to replace damaged or missing sections of living persons' arteries. Even animal arteries have been transplanted into humans.

Plastic valves have been substituted for damaged heart valves.

Most of these surgical advances have blossomed within the last 10 years.

There are two main techniques for helping some victims of bad heart attacks. In a coronary thrombosis similar to President Eisenhower's, a clot blocks one or more of the branches of arteries that bring nourishment to the heart muscle. Recovery depends upon expansion and extension of other arteries, or growth of new arteries, to nourish the area deprived of blood supply.

Bad attacks leave many pesons weak, short of breath, subject to pain on exertion, often true heart cripples.

One remedy is to irritate the heart, stimulating the heart muscle to create a new blood supply. Sterile talcum powder or asbestos powder is put inside the sac surrounding the heart.

Secondly, the heart hungry for blood can in effect, be given a new artery. A piece of vein is taken from an arm, then hooked in on the heart so some blood being pumped from the heart is fed into the heart muscle.

Even more dramatic perhaps are heart-lung machines, steadily pulsing blood though the human body, putting oxygen into the blood, while the human pump rests —still pulsing but 'dry" of blood.

For 20 to 70 minutes, heart-lung machines have worked on while surgeons plugged holes in the walls separating chambers of the heart, or fixed malformed or diseased valves.

Doctors C. Walton Lillehei, Richard Varco and Morley Cohen and associates, University of Minnesota, achieve a dry heart by connecting the bloodstream of the child patient with that of an adult volunteer—usually a parent. They have done this successfully numerous times.

Another technique used by numerous surgical teams is just cold temperature— chilling the human body 20 degrees or more. Bodily processes slow down, the brain's demand for oxygen is lowered, and the heart, its rate slowed down, can be opened for a brief time to make repairs.

For many heart repairs the heart need not be opened. "Blue baby" operations devised by Dr. Alfred Blalock of Johns Hopkins Hospital, and later techniques by others, straighten out some heart defects without opening up the heart.

Artery banks are spreading, with arteries preserved either in dried form in deep-freezers or in salt solutions. Artery banks saved the limbs of soldiers in Korea so wounded as to have lost entire sections of arteries or veins.

And there's much experimentation now with artificial arteries made of special fabrics coated with plastic.

One Of Quintuplets Returns To Convent

QUEBEC (AP)—Marie Dionne, one of the quintuplets, is back at the Roman Catholic convent she left 16 months ago.

Authorities at the convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament said Marie, now 21, had been permitted to return Sept. 12 as a novice instead of starting again as a postulant. She also resumed her religious name, Sister Marie-Rachel.

She first entered the convent in November 1953 but left in May 1954 because of poor health and extreme homesickness.

Says Decision Is Ike's Alone

Claims Heart Attack No Reason To Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Cabinet member was reported today to have told a group of important fund raisers for the Republican party there is no definite reason at this time to think President Eisenhower cannot run for a second term.

They were told, said one who attended, that Eisenhower alone can and will decide whether he will run in 1956.

The Cabinet member was not named.

His report was echoed within hours rom a number o top-level administration and GOP quarters, in a sudden lifting of the gloom that settled over the Republican 1956 presidential outlook after Eisenhower was laid low with a heart attack Saturday.

The outburst of optimism that Eisenhower might yet lead the party's ticket in the 1956 presidential race was based on an assesment in high administration quarters here that Eisenhower's heart attack was "the lightest kind that a man can have."

Thi did not jibe with the medical bulletins from Denver, which at first described the attack as "mild" and later as "moderate—neither mild nor severe." Also, it appeared to ignore the fact that Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, told reporters that fingers must be kept crossed for the first two weeks after the attack, due to the possibility o complications.

The optimistic outlook did not jibe, either, with reports from Denver, where personal friends said it would be "unthinkable" to subject Eisenhower to the burdens of a 1956 political campaign and another four years in office.

But the widespread nature of the belief—or hope—that Eisenhower may run again was indicated by an Associated Press poll. Of 116 GOP state chairmen and national committee members reached, only 12 said firmly Eisenhower should not run again. Five said he should; the others awaited further developments.

There were perhaps practical political reasons for the optimistic reports here. They could head off any major quarrel over continuing present policies, or keep up the level of campaign contributions, or calm any major business worries, or dampen any party-weakening scramble for the 1956 presidential nomination.

Nevertheless, the optimism seemed genuine, whether or not well founded medically.

A participant at the fund raisers meeting, involving chiefly big New York money names, said the Cabinet member told the meeting:

"The President has not per se been knocked out of the 1956 presidential race by his heart attack. The President has had the lightest kind of this sort of attack that a man can have.

"There is no reason why, with a few changes in his manner of living, he should not go on. There is no reason in the attack why he should not be a candidate next year. He must stop thinking of himself as an iron man, and get more rest.

Whether he will be a candidate or not will be entirely up to him. He and he alone will decide, and there is plenty of time for that. But there is nothing in what has happened to eliminate him as the 1956 GOP candidate."

THOUSANDS OF DISABLED VETERANS ARE HAVING THEIR PROBLEMS WORKED OUT FOR THEM BY THE DAV

Last year more than 21 million dollars in benefits were obtained for disabled veterans, their widows and dependents by service officers of the Disabled American Veterans.

This free service is provided by men who are well trained and qualified to handle the claims and problems of disabled veterans, their widows and dependents.

NOW IS THE TIME WHEN GRATITUDE Means SOMETHING

Our hearts were filled with gratitude for our boys in uniform during the fighting. Their sacrifices for us have left a lasting mark on the lives of four million disabled veterans. Our gratitude for their sacrifices must be just and lasting. We can show our gratitude today most effectively by supporting the Rehabilitating Program of the D. A. V.'s.

Forget-me-not
. . . PLEASE –

It is said that memory is the treasure house of the mind wherein the monuments thereof are kept and preserved.

If this be true, can there be a monument more imposing, more significant to preserve there than that of man's sacrifice for his fellow man?

Should not the mind of every American tenderly preserve the memory of the lives generously given on the field of battle that others should have life and laughter? Should it not keep always the remembrance of maimed bodies and tortured minds suffered that others might grow up strong and straight and free?

Surely, these are the monuments which should be guarded in a nation's treasure house of memory as well as in that of each American.

For today in our country there are thousands who want for the love and the comfort of those who died in war. There are hundreds of thousands, even millions, of others whose scarred bodies and minds will not permit them to forget pain and horror, but, rather, sharpen the memory of the joys of health and normal life.

If we remember—as we should—we will strive always and unceasingly to protect and care for these bereaved and suffering ones. We will give of our own resources to make sure that they do not suffer more or needlessly. We will never fail to heed that poignant whisper:
"Forget me not!"

"Forget me not", asks the Disabled American Veterans—the DAV—on its tag day.

Patrol Set To Enforce Pike Limits

Enforcement of Ohio Turnpike speed limits of 65 miles per hour for automobiles and 55 miles per hour for trucks and other traffic regulations on the 241-mile expressway is the responsibility of District 10 of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, established to police the turnpike. The Patrol also enforces all state laws on turnpike right-of way.

The turnpike Patrol unit is headed by Lieutenant John R. Bishop, a veteran of the Patrol, and consists of the lieutenant, a first sergeant, four duty sergeants, three corporals 49 patrolmen and four radio operators. Headquarters for the Patrol is in the Ohio Turnpike's Administration Building at Strongsville, near Cleveland.

The Patrol also has space for barracks in three turnpike maintenance buildings; Hiram Station in Portage County, Castalia in Erie County, and Swanton in Fulton County.

The Ohio Turnpike Commission has purchased 43 patrol cars, especially equipped for use by the turnpike Patrol detachment. The cars are painted "turnpike green." The Patrol has exclusive use of one channel of the turnpike two-way radio - communications system and makes use of other channels as conditions require.

The Patrol has conducted experiments in the use of radar along the big toll road. This type of speed control will be used if and as conditions require. The Patrol is alert to prevent use of the turnpike by vehicles which are not road-worthy and overweight trucks.

Persons arrested on the Ohio Turnpike are brought before courts in local communites having jurisdiction over those portions of the turnpike in which alleged violations occur. Fines for offenses committed on th eturnpike are distributed between state and local governments in the usual manner, none of such monies going to the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

All expenses of the "turnpike district" of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, including salaries of all members assigned to the district, are borne by the Turnpike Commission.

WHAT GIVES A CLASSIFIED AD ITS "MAGIC" POWER TO BRING RESPONSE?

Is It because so many of the ads are very small? Is it because they are printed near the back of the paper? Is it because they are printed in small type? Is it because everything advertised is "cheap"?

Obviously, the answer to each of these questions is "No".

Classified ads get quick response because THE PEOPLE WHO READ THEM ARE LOOKING FOR SOMETHING!

The success of the Classified ad is based on the needs and wants of the people. The American public has been educated to turn to the Classified ads FIRST in search of some of their most basic needs . . . housing, transportation, home furnishings and appliances, tools with which to earn a living, and even food.

When you place a Classified ad to sell come item that you no lonoger need, some one is waiting for your ad to appear. Someone needs that item and is searching the Classified ads to find it.

That is why Classified ads seem to have a "magic" power to bring response.

Yankees' Home Runs Power Them To 6-5 Series Opener Win

Byrne To Face Loes Today

Odds Increase On Yanks To Win Series

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Dreary indeed was the Brooklyn outlook today as the Dodgers, striving to win their first world championship, again came to grips with their nemesis New York Yankees in the second game of the 1955 World Series.

Downed in Wednesday's opener by a let-hander, the kind they've blasted all over the National League during the regular season, the Dodgers faced the same southpaw dose today, Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, encouraged by lety Whitey Ford's victory despite an admittedly mediocre pitching performance, came right back with Tommy Byrne (16-5).

Manager Walter Alston of the Dodgers was shaken somewhat by the Yankees' savage home run barrage that blasted his ace right-hander Don Newcombe off the hill and powered them to a 6-5 victory. But he decided to entrust Billy Loes (10-4), another right-hander, with the "get even" assignment.

Fair and sunny weather was predicted.

With one game in the bag, the odds went up on the Yankees to make it six straight series victories over the Dodgers. The American League champions are now 9-5 to take all the marbles and 6-5 to take today's game despite the continued absence of Mickey Mantle rom the starting lineup.

The ailing center fielder, still unable to run hard on his torn right thigh, reported after a light workout before Wednesday's game that he didn't think he'd play at all in the series.

Wednesday's 63,869 cash customers saw a whale of a game.

Five home runs were blasted by both sides, one short of the record for one game. Three of them were hit by the Yanks, two by first baseman Joe Collins and one by left fielder Elston Howard. They drove in all but one of the Yankee runs.

Newcombe, Brooklyn's pride and only 20-game winner, was the victim of all New York's homers and runs and all but one of their nine hits before finally shuffling off the mound in the sixth inning.

Ford was the winner, but he was no ball of fire either. The compact little 18-game winner was tagged for nine of Brooklyn's 10 safeties, including home runs by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider. He also issued four passes but was good enough when he had to be except in the eighth inning when the Dodgers struck back for two runs to cut the Yankees' lead to one run.

The last Brooklyn run was an electrifying steal of home by Jackie Rboinson that ignited the only real argument of the afternoon. Yankee catcher Yogi Berra argued Plate Umpire Bill Summer's decision, insisting he had tagged Robinson but the American League umpire stood firm.

Two innings earlier, Billy Martin tried to swipe home but Summers called him out as catcher Roy Campanella dived atop the sliding runner. Martin and Campanell tangled angrily for a couple of seconds before Martin wrestled himself free from the bruising backstop.

The turning point of the game came in the fourth inning. With two on and one out, Martin made a dazzling stop of Pee Wee Reese's wicked smash near second base and turned it into a double play.

Ford, who now has a 2-1 series record, retired the side in order in the sixth and seventh but after weathering a storm in the eighth, was removed by Stengel.

Bob Grim sealed the victory with a scoreless ninth.

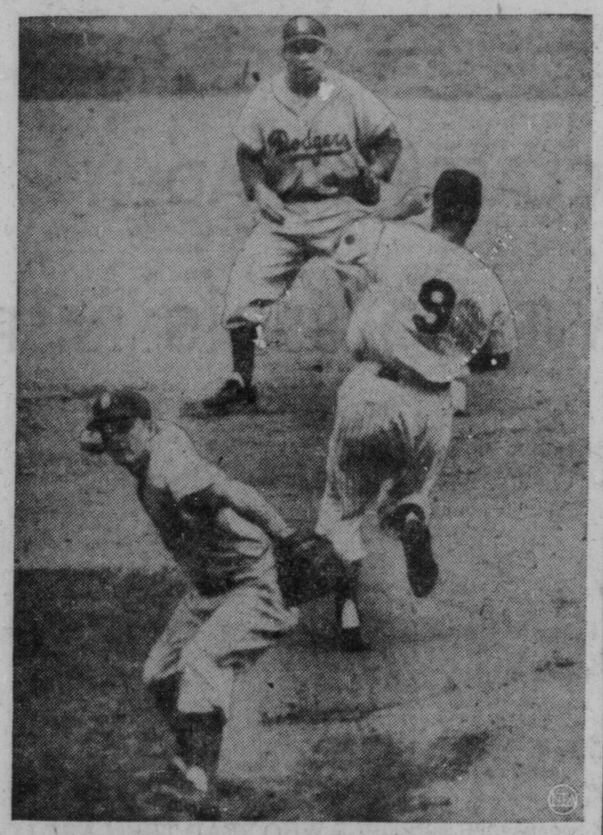
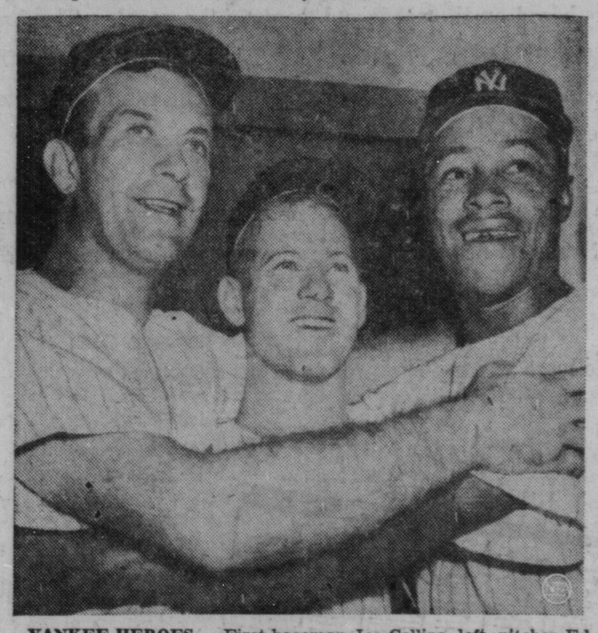
STEALS HOME — Flashing his old base running form, Dodgers Jackie Robinson steals home in the eighth inning of the opening game of the World Series at Yankee Stadium. Yankee catcher Yogi Berra makes the late tag. Waiting to bat is pinch-hitter Frank Kellert, who followed the steal with a bloop single to center. Robinson's theft was the 5th Brooklyn run of the game and it brought them up to within one run of the Yankees, who held on to win, 6-5.



DOUBLE PLAY—Don Zimmer, Dodger second baseman, throws to first to double-up Yankees' Irv Noren after tagging Yanks' Hank Bauer (No. 9) on a brilliantly executed play in first inning of the opening game of the World Series at Yankee Stadium. Dodger shortstop Pee Wee Reese stands by in rear.



YANKEE HEROES — First baseman Joe Collins, left, pitcher Ed "Whitey" Ford, center, and outfielder Elston Howard, stars of the New York 6-5, triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game of the World Series, rejoice in their dressing room at Yankee Stadium after the game. Collins hit two home runs, Howard hit a homer in his first appearance at bat in a series contest, while Ford was the winning pitcher.

9 TO 5 ON NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP)—It was 9 to 5 today that the New York Yankees would win their 17th World Series after defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-5 in the first game.

The Yanks also were favored at 6 to 5 to win today's game and take a 2-0 lead into Ebbets Field for the third game on Friday.

Quips On The Series

NEW YORK (AP) —Yank Manager Casey Stengel is touchy about any mention of winning the series in four straight.

Asked if he thought the Yanks might turn the trick, he snapped: "I didn't say anything about four straight. Don't sell those Dodgers short. They're a good team. They all hit. They're tough."

Manager Walt Alston of the Brooks, allowing he hates to get beaten, said he wasn't discouraged by Wednesday's 6-5 loss.

"I don't feel too bad," he added. "I'm still sure we're going to win. The Yanks didn't scare anyone."

Brook third baseman Jackie Robinson and Yank catcher Yogi Berra also failed to see eye-to-eye on Robbie's steal of home in the eighth. Berra complained long and loud. He thought he had put the ball on Robbie before the Dodger veteran touched the plate.

"Anyway," said Yogi, "it was strictly showboat strategy, stealing home when you're two runs be hind like that. It was a bad play."

"The only thing bad about it," snapped Robinson, "is that he didn't get me. Let Yogi play his type of game and I'll play mine."

Carl Furillo, Dodger right fielder, has been bothered by a cold.

Asked how he felt before the game, he replid:

"Clammy. I feel weak."

A right handed hitter, he pushed a home run into the right field stands in the second to put the Brooks in front.

"Poor guy hasn't got the strength to pull the ball," chuckled one of his mates.

A well-rested Billy Loes faces the Yankees today. The Brooklyn righthander has pitched only nine innings since Sept. 7. He's 1-1 against the Yankees in World Series competition.

Phil Rizzuto and Peewee Reese, the respective shortstops, are the series old - timers. They irst met back in 1941.

Reese never has won a series ring, one of the prizes for each player on the winning team.

"Tell you what I'll do, Peewee," laughed Rizzuto while photographers snapped the two. "I'll have your name engraved in my ring this year and give it to you."

"I won't accept it unless your finger is in it," replied Reese.

Bucks Board Plane For Stanford Game

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirty-eight Ohio State Buckeyes were to board a plane this morning for California and Saturday's football game with Stanford at Palo Alto.

There will be one, or possibly two changes in the OSU lineup. Dick Guy, sidelined with a shoulder injury after last Saturday's game with Nebraska, will be replaced at left tackle by Don Stoeckel. Coach Woody Hays said he'll "just have to wait and see" about putting Jimmy Roseboro in Jerry Harkrader's spot at right halfback.

Campanella-Martin Feud Is Developing

NEW YORK —A bitter feud is developing between Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella and New York second baseman Billy Martin and if they happen to come in contact with each other in today's second World Series game, it wouldn't surprise anyone to see them come up swinging.

It all started when Martin proclaimed a couple of days ago that Campy was gun shy—that is, he fell back on contact plays. Campanella laughed that one off, but when Martin tried to steal home unsuccessfully in the Yanks' opening 6-5 victory Wednesday, the Brook catcher really got annoyed.

"Any time that shrimp thinks he's going to run over me, little as he is, I'll break every bone in his body," growled the usually amiable Campy. "Just let him take two steps toward me and I'll take care of him. He's been too smart for too long."

When Martin came out of the dust after being tagged out, he mad ea threatening gesture toward Campanella, but Roy was on his way to the dugout by then, so it didn't mean anything.

"If it had been a regular-season game instead of a World Series, I'd have punched him in the nose," snarled the scrappy Martin. "That was the second time he hit me in the neck with a tag."

Martin was referring to an incident in the '53 series when he ran into Campy, only to be tagged out.

Appraised of Martin's remarks, Campanella grunted:

"I missed tagging him where I wanted to by about three inches. I'd like to have tagged him in the teeth."

Maryland, S. Cal., Army, Iowa Picked As Grid Winners

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone says pitching contributes 80 per cent to the success of a team in baseball's World Series. The winners pitched you in last week's forecast came to .796 with 39 correct guesses and 10 losses.

This brought the season's totals to 56 right, 18 wrong, .759.

Here are this week's picks:

Oklahoma over Pittsburgh: The Sooners didn't exactly sparkle last weekend and Pittsburgh did but Oklahoma is a strong favorite to extend college football's longest current winning streak to 21 games.

Army over Penn State: Lenny Moore is an established backfield star for Penn State and Don Holleder still is a question mark at quarterback for Army but the Cadets get the nod.

Iowa over Wisconsin: The day's upset special. Two well-equipped teams both in the line and in the backfield but Iowa has Calvin Jones in addition.

Maryland over Baylor: The country's No. 1 team will discover that they grow them rough and ready in Texas.

Southern California over Texas: A Friday night contest. Jon Arnett gambols before the home folk.

Georgia Tech over Southern Methodist: Tech has won the last four meetings and no indication that either team has changed its habits.

Navy over South Carolina: South Carolina, with Mackie Prickett the hero, spilled Army a year ago. Prickett is injured this year and Navy has been fully alerted to the Carolina dangers.

Ohio State over Stanford: Your weekly TV morsel. The Buckeyes can't go to the Rose Bowl this season so they will make a "show" of this game.

Notre Dame over Indiana: The Irish by two touchdowns.

Skipping over the rest in a hurry:

FRIDAY NIGHT

Drake over Iowa State Teachers, Miami over Florida State, Wichita over Detroit.

SATURDAY

East: Holy Cross over Dartmouth, Harvard over Massachusetts, Princeton over Columbia, Yale over Brown, Boston University over Connecticut, Colgate over Cornell.

Midwest: Colorado over Kansas, Illinois over Iowa State, Kansas State over Nebraska, Marquette over Tulsa, Purdue over Minnesota, Texas Tech over Oklahoma A&M, Cincinnati over College of Pacific, Missouri over Utah, Michigan over Michigan State.

South: Auburn over Florida, Clemson over Georgia, Mississippi State over Memphis State, Kentucky over Villanova, North Carolina over N.C. State, Northwestern over Tulane, Vanderbilt over Alabama, Richmond over Virginia Washington, West Virginia over Wake Forest, Duke over Tennessee.

Southwest: Hardin Simmons over New Mexico A&M, Rice over Louisiana State, Texas A&M over Houston, Texas Christian over Arkansas.

Far West: California over Pennsylvania, Denver at Colorado A&M, Montana over Brigham Young, Young, Washington over Oregon, Wyoming over Utah State, UCLA over Washington State.

Jim Houston Named Lineman Of Week

NEW YORK — Minnesota was a two - touchdown favorite over Washington last Saturday, but the underdog Huskies chalked up a 30-0 upset sparked by the superb play of veteran end Jim Houston.

For his smashing performance Houston, a 6:1 senior, was named today as football lineman of the week by The Associated Press.

Minnesota was on the Washington six early in the game when Houston made the first of his many alert plays that put the Gophers beak n their heels for the rest of the game. Minnesota's Don Swanson faded back to pass, but Houston broke through, blocked the attempted aerial, grabbed the ball in the air and ran 54 yards to the Minnesota 34. This set up a 27-yard field goal by Dean Derby.

Before the game was over Houston had scored touchdowns himself.

Another end, Ron Kramer of Michigan, played a bangup game against Missouri and was a close runnerup to Houston.

Kramer, a 6:3 junior, caught three touchdown passes and kicked 5-of-5 extra points as Michigan romped to a 42-7 triumph.

Altogether Kramer caught 7 of 8 passes for 109 yards, punted 3 times for a 41-yard average and carried the ball on two key end-around plays for 9 yards.

Two centers, Bob Pellegrini of Maryland and Steve Delatorre of Florida, received high praise for their weekend play.

Rifle Shoot Is Won By Damascus Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Culler of Damascus took top honors and the monthly rotating trophy by scoring highest in the husband-wife team rifle match at the Salem Hunting Club Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Culler took first place in the women's division, to be followed by Mrs. Robert Moncrief of Salem and Mrs. James Ivan of Salem. In the men's division, Lowell Brandt finished first, with George Stowe and Dave Kirby in second and third places, respectively. All three are from Salem.

In a special extra round of shooting, Mrs. George Stowe had the high score among the women, while Dave Kirby took top honors among the men.

A total of 20 marksmen participated in the Sunday match. Similar husband-wife team matches are scheduled for every fourth Sunday in months to come. Matches open to any individual marksmen are still being held every first Sunday in the month at the Salem club.

BUCK SHAW SIGNED

DENVER — A step toward pulling the U. S. Air Force Academy into the ranks of the future football powers was taken with the signing of Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw as head coach Wednesday.

Shaw, a 56-year-old veteran of college and professional coaching, was signed to a five-year contract at an undisclosed sum. It takes effect Jan. 1, 1956.

He was named civilian consultant to the academy football staff last summer.

3-Year Nightmare Turns Into Golden Dream For Joe Collins

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK — A three-year nightmare turned into a golden dream for Joe Collins, the thin, sinewy part-time first baseman of the New York Yankees.

His two mighty home runs sent the Yankees off to a 6-5 opening day victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers Wednesday and erased some of the harrowing memories of his total "bust' 'in a similar series in 1952.

In that series against Brooklyn Collins went hitless in 12 times at bat and struck out four times in one game with Carl Erskine pitching .

"This sort of lets me off the hook," said the 32-year-old veteran, a Yankee hanger-on in recent years. "It's a wonderful feeling," he said, referring to his two homers off Don Newcombe, Dodger righthander.

The son of a Polish immigrant reared in the hard coal regions of Scranton, Pa., says "I'm a glove man." His batting average in four orld Series is .148. For the 1955 season he batted .234.

Manager Casey Stengel, a "hunch" man, said he played Collins in the latter stages of the season only "because we had a winning streak going and I didn't want to break up the combiation."

Under his two-platoon system, Stengel normally uses Bill Skowron against lefties.

"I may still substitute for Collins against left-handers," Stengel said, "but I've got confidence in Joe. He can hit good pitchers."

During the season Collins hit two home runs in one game off the Chicago White Sox' Dick Donovan. Another time he got a pair off Cleveland's Early Wynn.

"I was using one of Mickey Mantle's bats," Collins said. "They're lighter and I can whip them around better."

Bobby Boyd Gains Win Over Fullmer

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Boyd, Chicago middleweight, withstood the charing tactics of Gene Fullmer to gain a unanimous 10-round televised bout Wednesday night over the West Jordan, Utah, puncher.

Boyd, outweighing his opponent 161¼ to 155, met Fullmer's aggressive attack with sharp counter punches to take the steam out of his 23-year-old ring foe.

The closeness of the bout showed on all three official cards. Referee Tony Zale favored Boyd 97-96. Judge Harold Marovitz 97-94 and Judge Lou Capperilli 96-94.

HOCKEY CLUB PRESIDENT

CLEVELAND (AP) — Claire W. Grove, Cleveland banker and sportsman, yesterday was elected president of the Cleveland Hockey Club, new owner of the Cleveland Barons. The club bought the Barons' American Hockey League franchise for $50,000, and leased use of the Cleveland Arena for 15 years for about $300,000.

SOVIETS FREE PRISONERS

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union, keeping its promises to the Germans, is releasing 9,626 German war prisoners.

The Moscow press today published a decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet ordering the prisoners freed.

Prmier Nikolai Bulganin told West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer during their talks here earlier this month that Rusia would release the prisoners.

The West Germans claim the Soviets have not accounted for 80,000 to 10,000 German prisoners, but Bulganin insisted Soviet records show only the 9,626. He agreed, however, to make a furthur check.

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Thirty-seven inmates of the state penitentiary passed up their fifth successive meal Wednesday night in protest against outmoded quarters and the possibility of punishment for rioting in July and August.

Asparagus Glorifies Creole

Near Stockton, Calif we watched green tipped and white asparagus being canned for American menus. It's very good eating. Especially "as is" on mixed green salad.

But lots of people like it better in cooked dishes, so let's look at this recipe from Mrs. Esther Speer of Stratford, Conn.

Liver Creole

Four slices bacon, diced; 1 pound caves liver, sliced ¼-inch thick; 1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained; 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce, 1 No. 2 can California white asparagus, drained; ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Cook bacon over low heat until crisp; remove from pan. Cook liver in bacon drippings until browned on both sides. Add bacon and remaining ingredients and cook, covered, over low heat 45 minutes.

Note: Use the asparagus liquid in soup or as a sauce topping for meats and vegetables.

Watercress Sauce

Five tablespoons butter or margarine, 5 tablespoons all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 1 cup chicken stock or bouillon, 2-3 cup California white asparagus liquid (liuid drained from one No. 2 can), ¾ cup milk, ½ cup chopped watercress.

Melt butter or margarine. Add flour and seasonings and blend. Gradually add chicken stock or bouillon, asparagus liquid and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add watercress and heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally.

Potluck Cookery Is New Cookbook

I just read a new cookbook that is really different. It is Potluck Cookery by Beverly Pepper.

Suppose you have some leftover beef stew or roast. This is what Beverly Pepper suggests:

Beef, Vegetables

Leftover beef stew or roast, at least 1 cup, put through meat chopper or cut into very small dice; oil, butter or margarine or lard, 1 tablespoon; flour, 1 tablespoon; condensed cream soup, 1 can either mushroom, celery, tomato or condensed vegetable beef soup; milk, ½ cup, salt and pepper to taste, toast or mashed potatoes.

Heat oil, butter or margarine or lard. Add beef and heat through. Sprinkle with flour. Cook until slightly browned. Shake pan frequently. Add soup and milk. Stir until thickened. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve on toast or mashed potatoes.

Suggested: Serve with Almond Spinach Croquettes escarole-tomato salad with French dressing and toast triangles.

Here's what she does with leftover cooked broccoli:

Horseradish Sauce

Leftover cooked broccoli, at least 1½ cups, butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon; sour cream, ½ cup; prepared horseradish ½ teaspoon; pepared mustard, ½ teaspoon; salt and pepper to taste; bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon.

Saute broccoli in butter or margarine. Heat sour cream, horseradish, mustard, salt and pepper. Place broccoli in serving dish. Cover with sauce, Top with bread crumbs. Place under broiler 1 minute.

When unexpected guests show up, Potluck Cookery will solve your problem.

Basic Cake, Fancy Fixings

This two-egg cake is made the quick-beat way; a basic recipe, it gains glamor from its fixings. If Concord grapes are available, you can use them to make the cake filling; if not, use a good grape jam. Frost the cake with cinnamon whipped cream and give it a gorgeous garnish made from halved red or blue grapes and fresh mint leaves.

Grape Cake

Ingredients: 2½ cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups sugar, ½ cup emulsifier-type vegetable shortening 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, Concord Grape Filling or grape jam. Cinnamon Whipped Cream, extra red or blue grapes, fresh mint leaves.

Method: Line bottom of square pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches) with paper. Put flour baking powder, salt and sugar into sifter. Put shortening and lemon rind in large mixing bowl; stir together to soften shortening. Sift in dry ingredients. Add ¾ cup of the milk and mix until all flour is dampened. Beat 2 minutes at low speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand. Add eggs and remaining ¼ cup milk; beat 1 minute longer at low speed of mixer or 150 vigorous strokes by hand. Turn into prepared pan.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 to 50 minutes. Turn out on rack to cool. Split cake in half horizontally, forming two layers. Spread Concord Grape Filling or grape jam between layers. Spread top and sides of cake with Cinnamon Whipped Cream. Decorate with "bunches of grapes" made from halved seeded grapes and mint leaves. Chill until ready to serve.

Concord Grape Filling

Stir 2 tablespoons cake flour, ½ cup sugar and dash of salt together in a small saucepan. Add ¼ cup water and 1 cup Concord grapes; bring to boil, stirring occasionally. Boil 2 minutes. Strian through a sieve. Cool before spreading on cake.

Cinnamon Whipped Cream

Add 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon to 1½ cups heavy cream; whip until stiff.

Beef And Vegetables Make Delicious Casserole

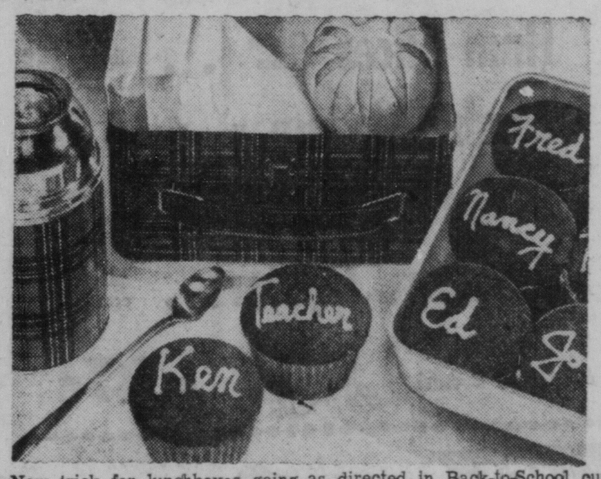
Combine beef stew meat, vegetables, seasonings and flaky pastry and there's no doubt you'll end up with a delicious casserole dish.

Make one large potpie in a two-quart casserole or bake in small individual dishes, either way it will be a tasty dish.

Use: 2 pounds beef stew meat (cut in 1-inch cubes), 3 medium onions, sliced, 3 tablespoons fat, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper 1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce teaspoon basil, ¼ teaspoon thyme, 3 cups boullion (or hot water) 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, 3 carrots, diced, 3 medium potatoes diced, ½ standard pastry recipe.

Brown meat and onions in melted fat in a large, heavy pan. Add seasonings and bouillon, cover and cook over low heat one hour. Add vegetables and cook 20 minutes or until meat and vegetables are tender. Remove meat and vegetables to individual casseroles or a two-quart casserole. Thicken remaining stock with flour and water paste. (¼ cup each, flour and water). Pour gravy over meat and vegetables. Roll out pastry to make covers for the casseroles. For individual servings, cut into shapes slightly smaller than the casseroles to make "floating" tops Decorate pastry covers, if you wish and place on top of meat and vegetable. Bake in a 425 degree oven 15 minutes or until pastry is browned. 6 to 8 servings.

New Trick For Lunchboxes



New trick for lunchboxes going to school! First make your own gingerbread mix. Then when it's convenient, bake a batch of cupcakes from it. Put the cooled cupcakes in your freezer. The morning you pack a couple of the good little treats into your youngster's lunchbox, take them out of the freezer. They'll be thawed and fresh-tasting by noon.

The youngsters we used as willing taste-testers of these cupcakes were all approving. Good molasses flavor, spicing just right, fine texture—small fry took note of and appreciated these qualities. Here's the recipe for the mix and directions for using it.

Gingerbread Mix

Ingredients: 8 cups sifted flour, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 2½ teaspoons baking soda, 4 teaspoons salt, 2 cups sugar, 3 tablespoons ginger, 3 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves 1½ cups hydrogenated shortening.

Method: Sift flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, sugar ginger cinnamon and cloves together twice. Cut in shortening with two knives or pastry blender until no more fat particles can be seen. Place in tightly covered container; store in a cool place. Makes about 15 cups of mix; use as directed in Back-to-School cup cakes.

School Cupcakes

Ingredients: 1 egg ¾ cup old-fashioned molasses, ¾ cup boiling water, 3 cups Molasses Gingerbread Mix (see recipe).

Method: Beat egg until thick and lemon-colored with rotary egg beater; beat in molasses, then boiling water. Add to the 3 cups of Molasses Ginerbread Mix and beat just until smooth. Place paper baking cups in muffin pans; fill each cup about two-thirds full. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. If muffin pans whose cups each measure about 2¾ inches across top are used, the batter will make 12 to 14 cupcakes; these should be baked 25 to 30 minutes. Cool in baking cups on rack. If paper baking cups are not used, grease bottoms and sides of muffin cups well with shortening; allow cupcakes to stand about 10 minutes before loosening with small spatula or knife and removing to cooling rack. If desired, frost with confectioners' sugar frosting or force small amount of frosting through cake decorator to write name on each cupcake. Cupcakes may be covered and placed in frezer; thaw 1 to 1½ hours before serving.

Fill Beef Loaf With Surprises

A ground beef loaf with a surprise filling of onions, pickles and mild cheese is good food news Mrs. Kenneth Lites of Pentwater, Mich. gave us the recipe.

She says it is equally good served warm or cold. When served cold, she suggests garnihing it with sliced tomatoes, cucumbers and green onions.

Loaf Surprise

One and three-quarters pounds ground beef, ¾ cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked), 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup beef bouillon (canned or 1 bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup water).

Filling: one medium onion, sliced thin; 2 large dill pickles, sliced; ¼ pound natural mild cheese (cut in sticks).

Combine ground beef, rolled oats, egg, salt, pepper and beef bouillon in a bowl. Put half of meat mixture into a one-pound loaf pan, making a hollow (1-inch deep and 2 inches wide) in the center of the meat mixture.

In this hollow place a layer of onions, dill pickles and cheese. Cover with the remaining meat mixture. (The meat should completely seal in the center ingredients to keep meat loaf firm and to avoid overmelting of the cheese

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 60 to 65 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes. Remove from pan. (It is easier to slice if meat loaf rests for another 5 to 10 minutes after removing from pan). Serve hot or cold.

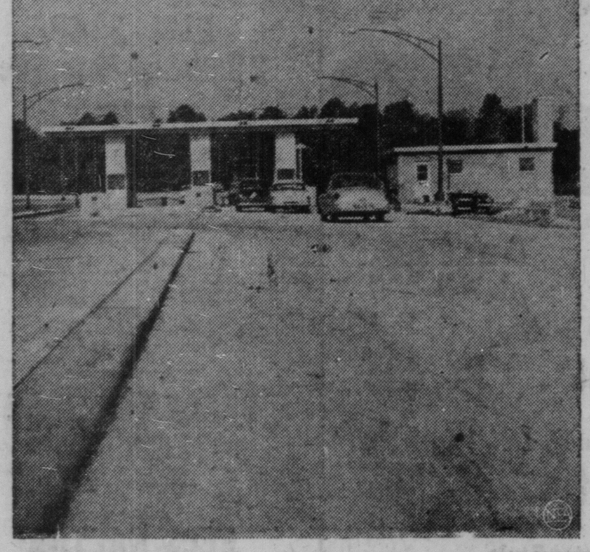
Salem Close To Ohio Turnpike Which Opens Officially On Saturday

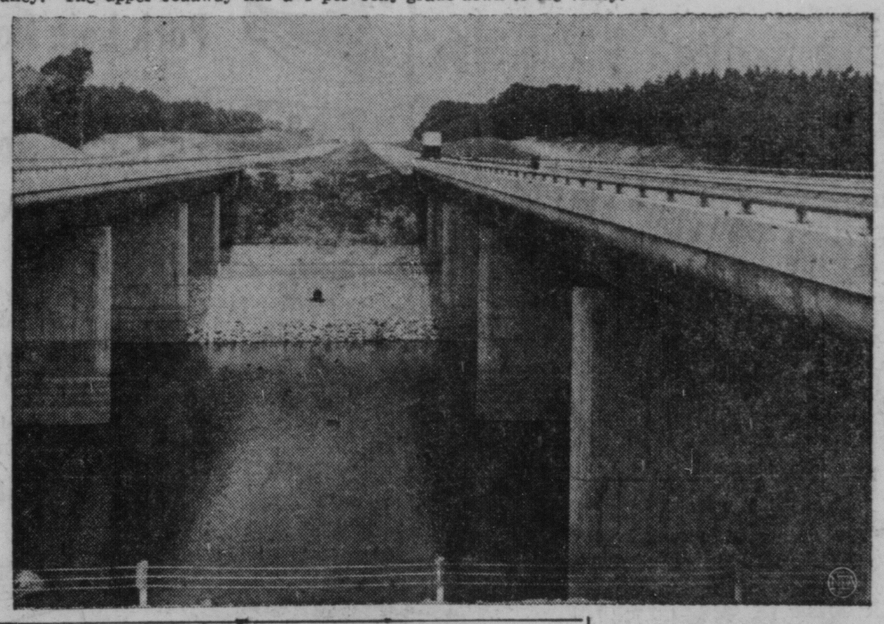
WELCOME MAT OUT — Uniform signs outlining the contour of the state of Ohio are used as markers on the turnpike. Signs similar to this one greet motorists at each entrance.

THE OHIO TURNPIKE, a four-lane divided highway, stretches 241 miles across the state from Pennsylvania on the east to Indiana on the west. Interchanges for getting on and off the Turnpike are located at intersections with main state highways at 15 points (see map) across the state. Estimated time savings for autos over the entire length of the toll road is 3 hours, 23 minutes; for trucks, 5 hours, 1 minute. Clear vision on curves is assured with a minimum sight distance of 900 feet ahead.

TWO LEVELS—This general view shows a two-level section of the Ohio Turnpike in the vicinity of Peninsula, just south of Cleveland. The lower road maintains a grade of 2 per cent rise from the valley. The upper roadway has a 4 per cent grade down to the valley.



TOLL HOUSE — This is the Eastern Gateway to the Ohio Turnpike, located at the Pennsylvania border. All entrance areas at the 15 interchanges across the state are the same.



DOUBLE ROADWAY—Typical of the double roadway bridges on the Ohio Turnpike are these near the Meander Reservoir at Youngstown. Separate crossings were constructed for the highway for each flow of traffic. Note crossroads underneath the bridges parallel to stream.
